ALEXANDER M. WAGNER, Pianist and Composer

Alexander M. Wagner was born on March 31st 1995 and began to play the piano at the age of five. His repertoire not only includes classical and romantic works of piano literature but also his own original and imaginative compositions that have been enthusiastically received by his audiences. He is now 15 years old and has just completed his first, astonishingly consistent, First Symphony with the title “Kraftwerk” (Power Station).

Wagner is also a talented improviser, a gift which has become rare among classical musicians today. He can play tirelessly for hours, formulating and developing the wealth of ideas that continually fill his head.

In his recent recitals he has played works by Beethoven, Brahms, Liszt and Gershwin as well as his own compositions.

Wagner is a pupil of the “Regensburger Domspatzen” Gymnasium where he sang in the choir until his voice broke. Since 2007, his artistic development has been accompanied by the composer Franz Hummel who teaches him piano and composition and who calls Alexander, “one of the most talented people I have ever encountered.”

Alexander M. Wagner has a wide stylistic range, from popular (though never trivial) forms, to jazz and radical contemporary expressivity which he often combines with well-known classical works such as Beethoven’s “Moonlight Sonata”. This, as Wagner says; “well-worn concert favourite” takes on a whole new cosmos of musical language in his exciting interpretation.
